INNSBRUCK 2012 INDIVIDUAL SKILLS CHALLENGE TEST PROTOCOL

The Individual Skills Challenge will consist of 15 qualified male and 15 qualified female players, as well as one (1) male player and (1) female player from the host nation. The Individual Skills Challenge will comprise two (2) phases: a Qualification Phase and a Grand Final. Both the phases of the men's and women's competitions will be held during the same ice session. The Qualification Phase will qualify the top eight (8) female and eight (8) male players, who will progress to compete in the Grand Final.

Both phases consist of a series of six (6) skills tests, which will be conducted on a head-to-head, knockout basis until a winner is declared.

Participants will be seeded for each skills test, according to the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games Skills Challenge – Operations Manual and Test Protocol. Participants in the Grand Final will be seeded according to their ranking in each test during the Qualification Phase. Players earn points for their finishing position in each test. At the end of the Qualification Phase, the points from all six (6) tests will be added together to determine each player's individual points total.

During the Grand Final of the Individual Skills Challenge, players of each gender will compete for medals and to determine the final individual rankings.

Participants must perform the skills tests as described in the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games Skills Challenge – Operations Manual and Test Protocol. Any intentional breach of the rules will result in the participant being disqualified from that skills test. A second such breach will result in the participant being disqualified from the Individual Skills Challenge.

If a player is disqualified by the IOC and/or IIHF due to a major breach of the ethical rules of the competition, the player will be indicated as having been disqualified from the competition, have all his/her results declared null and void, and he/she will receive no ranking (neither for the Individual Skills Challenge nor for the Qualification Phase or the Grand Final).

SCORING

Players will earn points for their finishing position in each test. The points will be allocated according to the Scoring Protocol detailed below:

- Winner: five (5) points,
- Runner-up: four (4) points,
- Two losing semi-finalists: three (3) points each,
- Four losing quarter-finalists: two (2) points each,
- Eight players losing in the first round: one (1) point each.

At the end of the competition, the points from all six (6) tests will be added together to determine each player's individual points total. Players' individual point totals from the Qualification Phase will not be brought forward to the Grand Final.

- Any player who fails to finish (DNS, DNF, DSQ) the initial round (the first round of the Qualification Phase or the Quarter-Final of the Grand Final) of a skills test will earn zero (0) points for the test.
- Any player who fails to finish (DNF, DSQ) either the quarter-final or semi-final round of a skills test will earn zero (0) points for that test, but will retain the points they have earned up until that test.
- Any player who fails to finish (DNF, DSQ) the final round of a skills test will earn the runner-up's points for that test.

EQUIPMENT

NOCs are asked to bring their own sports equipment in order to be able to compete in the respective events. Personal sports equipment storage is provided at the locations indicated in the Sports Equipment Storage List in the Appendix.

MEDICAL SERVICES AT THE IOC HOTEL, MMC AND IYOGOC-RECOMMENDED HOTELS

There will be no dedicated hotel physicians in the IOC Hotel, the MMC and IYOGOC-recommended hotels. If an accredited person requires medical help outside the YOV, they can consult our partner physicians in Innsbruck. These physicians are authorised to issue prescriptions using the YOG Prescription Pad. In the case of emergency, the Austrian Red Cross can be contacted using the general emergency number 144.

YOG PARTNER HOSPITALS AND PHARMACIES

- Innsbruck University Hospital is the main YOG Partner Hospital of the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games. This hospital will be responsible for all emergencies, hospital treatment and laboratory analyses.
- Innsbruck Military Hospital will be on hand as a YOG Partner Hospital to deal with quarantine issues, dental treatment and laboratory analyses.
- Austrian law states that the young athletes (≥ 14 years) are allowed to decide whether or not they want to receive certain medical treatment, provided this treatment will not have a major impact on their health.

MEDICAL EXPENSES POLICY FOR CLIENT GROUPS

On-site emergency medical services will be provided free of charge to all accredited Client Groups and spectators at medical facilities set up at the Innsbruck 2012 venues. Furthermore, in cooperation with the official YOG Partner Hospitals, IYOGOC will provide hospital care free of charge to designated eligible accredited Client Groups (i.e. NOCs, the IOC and IFs).

This hospital care will include:

- free transport from an Innsbruck 2012 venue to a dedicated YOG Partner Hospital;
- free emergency and outpatient treatment/services in a YOG Partner Hospital, equivalent to the treatment/services a patient would receive in a public hospital;
- free medication during the hospital stay, equivalent to the medication a patient would receive in a public hospital.

Mountain rescue, including helicopter transport to the YOG Partner Hospital, will be covered for all accredited Client Groups during competition and official training.

REPATRIATION

IYOGOC will provide repatriation free of charge for eligible accredited Client Groups (i.e. NOCs, the IOC and IFs). In the event that a member of an eligible Client Group requires medical repatriation, free transport with the necessary accompanying medical personnel will be provided. In the event of death, the repatriation process will cover the cost of transporting the body to the home country. All arrangements in this respect will be handled by IYOGOC.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

Food, air and water quality will be monitored at all times during the Games. Any issue which may lead to a public health concern will be dealt with immediately by the local authorities. Water and air quality in Tyrol is generally excellent and is monitored on a regular basis by the provincial government.

11 DOPING CONTROL

There will be two (2) types of doping controls at the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games: pre-competition testing (randomly chosen or targeted athletes will be tested in the Medical Service Centre in the Youth Olympic Village); and post-competition testing (based on the result of the competition). All doping controls will follow the rules of in-competition testing and take place in accordance with the Test Distribution Plan.

The official testing laboratory for the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games will be Seibersdorf Laboratories GmbH.

In order to ensure that doping controls are processed in a secure, fast and efficient way, the following Doping Control Stations will operate during the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games and must be indicated as such:

- Olympiaworld Innsbruck,
- Patscherkofel,
- Olympic Sliding Centre Innsbruck,
- Kühtai,
- Seefeld,
- Youth Olympic Village (part of the Medical Service Centre).

The Main Doping Control Station will be at the Olympiaworld Innsbruck venue. All competitions taking place at Olympiaworld Innsbruck must use the Main Doping Control Station.

Should an athlete not be able to provide a test sample within two (2) hours after the start of the doping control procedure, the athlete will be taken to the Doping Control Station in the YOY, accompanied at all times by a Chaperone.

To guarantee that the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games run smoothly, and to avoid placing the focus on potential negative doping test results, no test results whatsoever will be communicated during Games-time. Instead, the results of the doping controls carried out during the Games will be communicated no more than two (2) weeks after the Closing Ceremony. Seibersdorf Laboratories GmbH will directly communicate all test results to the IOC Medical Commission Chairman or his representative. At the same time, the test results will also be communicated to the respective IFs and the World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA).

For further information please also consult the Innsbruck 2012 Winter Youth Olympic Games Technical Procedures for Doping Control.

If there are any questions regarding doping control please do not hesitate to contact Prof. Dr Wolfgang Schobersberger (Chief Medical Officer) and/or Dr Franz Krösslhuber (Doping Control Manager) at medoffice@innsbruck2012.com.

12 WEATHER SERVICES

The Games-time weather service will feature a fully operational weather forecasting system including individual forecasts for individual venues, On-Venue Results (OVR) reports and web pages as well as real-time data delivery and the provision of weather information to athletes and officials, competition management, the Main Operations Centre and Venue Information Booth. Weather information will also be available at the Sport Information Desk in the Event Information Centre at the Youth Olympic Village.

13 VICTORY CEREMONIES

The Innsbruck 2012 Victory Ceremonies will be held in accordance with the protocol determined by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) to honour the individual and team achievements of the athletes.

Victory Ceremonies are composed of two (2) types of ceremonies: Mascot Ceremonies and Victory Ceremonies. The Mascot Ceremonies will take place at the Competition Venues following each medal event. Then, at a later point in time, medallists will be invited onto the podium at Medals Plaza to receive their medals as part of the Victory Ceremony. Due to the Closing Ceremony, all Victory Ceremonies taking place on 22 January 2012 will be held at the respective Competition Venue.

Medals will be presented in the following order: bronze, silver, gold. The national flags of the medallists' NOCs will be raised as the national anthem of the gold medallist's nation is played. For Mixed-NOC Team Events, instead of the usual NOC flags and anthems, the Olympic Flag will be raised for each medal-winning team and the Olympic Hymn will be played.
